

Emerged single cell measurements using time-lapse microscopy are able to provide accurate and quantitative results and to reflect the growth dynamics of cells within a population.

<https://www.jove.com/v/62778>